

"a very effective and moving evocation of Euripides' tragedy...
starring the impressive Judith Barnes, founder of the Rep.
The multi-ethnic cast are all able singers..."

New York Theatre Wire
(Darius Milhaud's Médée)

VPR's recent production of Puccini's Il Tabarro on an oil tanker at the Red Hook Marine Terminal won wide acclaim and drew capacity crowds, making a successful transition from intimate black box opera to the wide-open space of the Brooklyn Waterfront.

Brian Kellow of Opera News called the production "exhilarating."

"Vertical Player Repertory is attracting an ever larger audience."
